Spirits of the Bluegrass (Specialty Tours)

Kentucky is well known for our bourbon distilleries but lesser known is our burgeoning craft brewery and winery scene. Kentucky is now home to over 50 breweries and 70 wineries. We would like to introduce you to a few of our favorites and of course, since it is Kentucky, one of our award-winning bourbon distilleries. On our Spirits of the Bluegrass Tour we will do a tour of Town Branch Distillery with tastings and then stop by Rock House Brewery for a tour, a flight and a discussion with owner Kevin. The last stop on the tour will be at Wildside Winery in Versailles, KY for a tour, flight, and discussion with owner Neil. Join us in learning about all aspects of the spirit making process.

We will pick you up at the Lexington visitor center. The tour is approximately 4-5 hours. Water and snacks will be provided.

Price: $60 (includes a tour at Town Branch and tastings at all three locations).

Experience Tours

Culinary Trail of the Commonwealth

Kentucky's culinary scene was a well-kept secret until showcased on Season 16 of Bravo's Top Chef. Throughout the three-month long broadcast, the diversity of Kentucky's exploding food scene was revealed along with some of our most iconic sites. As we salivated through each episode, an idea emerged to combine what we love to do, show off our beautiful state, with what we live to do-eat. Join us as we travel from Lexington to Louisville to savor the cuisine of the celebrity chefs who served as judges on the show. We will have breakfast at Ouita Michel's Midway Bakery, lunch at Edward Lee's Whiskey Dry, dinner at Annie Pettry's Decca and a cocktail at the famous Seelbach Bar. We will work up an appetite by touring Kentucky landmarks: Keeneland, Makers' Mark and the Muhammad Ali Center. This will be a unique experience for the "foodie" in all of us.

Bourbon Sessions

Mother-daughter duo Joyce and Autumn Nethery are creating a legacy for their family and their hometown of Shelbyville, one ground to glass spirit at a time. Co-owner and Marketing Manager Autumn Nethery spent a year studying distilling in Scotland and traveling abroad with Semester at Sea. She is now one of the youngest distillery owners in the country. Joyce Nethery, co-owner of Jeptha Creed, attended the University of Louisville Speed School where she gained her Master's degree in chemical engineering. She is flexing her engineering muscles as Jephtha Creed's master distiller developing delicious spirit recipes with the help of her amazing family and staff. The name Jephtha Creed is derived from both Kentucky and Scottish heritage, two ideals to which the Netherys hold true. Jacobite and Scottish soldier James Nethery came to the American colonies from Scotland as an indentured servant after being captured in the Battle of Preston in 1715. He and his family settled in what is now Shelbyville, KY, home of the Jephtha Knob, the highest point in the state. It was discovered by American frontiersmen and brothers Squire Boone, founder of the first settlement in Shelby County, KY, and the one-and-only Daniel Boone, who named the knob after a biblical warrior in Judges 11. After learning about the Jephtha Knob's rich Kentucky history, the Netherys decided to make Jephtha part of their name. In addition to this piece of hometown history, the Netherys wanted to honor an important creed passed down through their family for generations. Derived from the Scottish motto, Ne Oublie, meaning "never forget," they promise to always remember where they came from. This combination of both their Kentucky and Scottish roots resulted in the creation of the "Jephtha Creed" brand and promise, their commitment to offer a unique and unforgettable experience, rooted in tradition and heritage, to everyone who walks through the distillery doors. Join us as we celebrate these two preeminent women of bourbon. As always, tastings and a tour of the mansion will be included.
